

Celebrating 50 years of the Ramsar Convention on Wetlands

Cobourg Peninsula, NT—the world's first Ramsar site

Australian Government

This is one of Australia's 66 internationally important wetlands, which are listed under the Ramsar Convention for their global biodiversity values. These amazing wetlands include swamps, marshes, rivers, lakes, estuaries, coasts and coral reefs.

Find out more: environment.gov.au/wetlands

